New Book about Bird Hunting in South Dakota

Lester Flake was a SDSU Professor and avid hunter and fly fisherman. I’ve read it. He’s a good story teller – Britney spaniels, pheasants and grouse mostly but he also provides marriage advice for the hunter (not making this up) and some conservation advice. The book is available as a paperback on Amazon.com ($13.95 plus postage) or, if you want a signed copy, by contacting Les directly by phone 801-491-0854) or by e-mail (LDFlake@yahoo.com).

Lake Watch

Recreation: The news in December was about airplanes landing on the ice. There has been talk of the lack of winter recreation this year. However, this month Lake Campbell hosted a new type of recreation – ice-bike racing. That’s right! Doc Peterson made a short track just off of the swimming beach and for a couple of hours on weekends, this track is used by motor cycles and 4-wheelers.

Water and wildlife: Great Backyard Bird Count <http://www.birdsource.org/gbbc> is coming up February 13-16, minimum time commitment is a 15-min anytime during the 4 days – give it a try as a citizen scientist.
